

Canadian airports approve Clear Bag System - Windows Internet Explorer

http://news.cheapflights.com/airlines/2008/03/canadian-airpor.html

Canadian airports approve Clear Bag System

Norton 360 Fraud monitoring is on

Cheapflights.com Your guide to cheap airline tickets & hot airfare deals.

Cheap flights Home

Get your Free Deals Alert Newsletter!

your email address... Sign Up Why sign up?

Search flights Book airline tickets Handpicked deals Useful flight tools

From: To: Find Deals Now!

List all Departures List all Destinations

Recent Posts

- $20 Bill Me Later discount for Continental flyers
- Apple iPods on Eos New York-London flights
- Spring savings from Alaska, Horizon
- Free tickets from AirTran U program
- Weekend book signing at Baltimore/Washington

Categories

- Latest Flight News
- Travel News
- Airport News

Airport News

Canadian airports approve Clear Bag System

The carry-on baggage firm 311 Travel Bag has announced that airline passengers will now be able to use its Clear Bag System when traveling through Canadian airports.

Approval for the bags has been granted by the Canadian Air Transport Security Authority (CATSA).

This means that passengers can carry liquids, gels and aerosols through pre-board security checkpoints using the Clear Bag System instead of standard zip-lock bags. Linda Padgett-Stinson, President at 311 Travel Bag, said: "We are proud that our product is now recognized and accepted in Canada.

"This confirmation gives Canadian travelers the confidence to travel safely and securely under Transport Canada regulations without giving up their independence."

The bags are made of transparent vinyl and have a zipper opening, as well as reusable see-through containers for toiletries.

© Adfero Ltd

March 26, 2008 Airport News | Permalink | Comments \(0\) | Print this article