New travel bag locks in convenience and style

Remember that nightmare where you're running toward security and your plane has already been cleared for takeoff? Suddenly you realize all your toiletries are in your carry-on - not the bag you just checked.

And someone is telling you that no, you can't take it on board. You'll have to throw it all out or miss your flight...

The Clear Bag System from 311 Travel Bag solves the problem quickly, efficiently and with more than enough style for the fashionista in you.

Clear Bag System

It's a quart-sized, clear tote filled with reusable jars and airless pumps designed to withstand the wear and tear of travel. You fill the containers with your favorite products, so no worries about allergic reactions. And there's more than enough room for toothbrush, toothpaste and deodorant.

The bag's earned the TSA's stamp of approval, which means you can tuck it in your carry-on, relax through security and freshen up before you arrive.

Sweet!
