- We still covet our travel-sized products and are thankful to have discovered Provence Sante body and bath lotions and gels in 1.7-ounce recycled plastic bottles. The French-made line features clean-smelling fragrances, including our favorite, the karite (shea) butter conditioner. $3 each, www.baudelairesoaps.com for retail locations.

- From the amenities staff at the Ritz-Cariton, Amelia Island, Fla., comes a customized travel kit that's part of the last night's turn-down service. The Ritz stocks its guest rooms with Bulgari products, so the take-home package features a welcome sampling of the beautiful plastic bottles. www.ritzcarlton.com.

- The 3-1-1 Travel Bag features five plastic cylinders (all less than 3 ounces) that use an airless pump system to dispense lotion, shampoo or other liquids of your choice. With sleek aluminum tops and bases, they look stylish enough to display on the bathroom counter. They come packaged in their own zip-top clear plastic quart-size bag, with enough room left over for other necessary toiletries. $24.95, www.clearbagsystem.com.

- From Flight 001 comes this bottle set designed by PKOH that resembles mini light bulbs. The 2-ounce squeeze bottles in a puncture-resistant translucent silicone have wide mouths for easy filling, and the flat caps allow the bottles to stand on end. An O-ring design prevents leakage. $20 for the set. www.flight001.com.
